

From eternal Jerusalem stone, a new legacy is built

WALDORF
ASTORIA®

JERUSALEM

Hotel History

- The old Palace Hotel was originally built in 1929 as the most luxurious hotel in the Middle East, with elevators, central heating system and even private bathrooms.
- Designed by Turkish architect Nahas Bey and constructed under Jewish Engineer Baruch Katinka.
- During the British Mandate (1917-1948) the Palace served as military and administrative offices by the British authority.
- With the establishment of The State of Israel, the Ministry of Trade took up residence.
- The hotel was purchased in 2006 by the Reichmann family of Canada
- The hotel facade was meticulously preserved throughout the entire building, and rest of the hotel was rebuilt and extended.
- Waldorf Astoria Jerusalem opened in 2014
